

Youth Culture Specialist, Paul Robertson, Presents

UNDERSTANDING TECHNOLOGY

PROTECTING YOUR KIDS

No parent could have ever imagined how much time their kids would spend with the new technologies. This alternative universe is a place to find new friends, join a social network, chat in private rooms, get help with homework, and sometimes fall into trouble and danger. This seminar will look at a variety of new technologies, parental concerns and privacy issues, and practical ways to monitor screen time.

Paul is the Youth Culture Specialist for Youth Unlimited (Toronto YFC). He has been working with youth and parents for 33 years and has spoken extensively throughout Canada and the USA. Having raised four sons, he understands that today's parents are searching for answers to urgent questions on keeping the family strong.
