

Youth Culture Specialist, Paul Robertson, Presents

UNDERSTANDING AND TALKING CULTURE WITH KIDS

Music, peer pressure, Internet, drugs, sex, television, computer games, media. The list of cultural issues that challenge us as adults seems to have no end. We want to talk to our kids about these important matters but where do we begin? This seminar will look at some of the latest youth culture trends and provide a framework for understanding and having intelligent conversations about them.

Paul is the Youth Culture Specialist for Youth Unlimited (Toronto YFC). He has been working with youth and parents for 33 years and has spoken extensively throughout Canada and the USA. Having raised four sons, he understands that today's parents are searching for answers to urgent questions on keeping the family strong.
